A member, by virtue of his membership in The Institute, becomes a member of the chapter of The Institute within the territory of which he resides or has his place of business, as he elects, but he pays an admission fee to The Institute only. The admission fee to membership in The Institute normally is twenty-five dollars. (For 1936 this fee was reduced to five dollars.)

A member pays annual dues both to The Institute and to the chapter. The annual dues to The Institute normally are twenty-five dollars (for 1936 Institute dues were reduced to twenty dollars) and those to the chapter are fixed in its by-laws.

Normally the period between the time of filing an application and the time it is acted on by The Board of The Institute is four months. The period will be longer if the application must be returned to the applicant for corrections or if additional exhibits of the applicant's work are required by The Board of Examiners.

If an application is denied, the amount prepaid by the applicant for annual dues and for admission fee, less five dollars for examination fee, will be returned to him.

An applicant whose application has been denied without prejudice may reapply for admission to membership a year or more after the date of The Secretary's notice to him of his non-admission.

Board of Directors,
The American Institute of Architects,
Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Detroit Chapter of The American Institute of Architects held on June 17, 1946 ^{it was} voted to remit all annual dues in the Chapter that may accrue to Mr. Wirt C. Rowland, A. I. A., a member of this Chapter.

This action was taken because of Mr. Rowland's profound influence on the architecture of Detroit, the excellence of his design and because of his contributions to the profession of architecture, and further because he is now incapacitated and unable to engage in any vocation.

The Executive Committee requests that The Institute take similar action by exempting Mr. Rowland from payment of Institute dues, and that he be made a Member Emeritus of The Institute.

For your information, Mr. Rowland was 67 years old last December 1. His membership in The Institute has not been continuous, having been interrupted from 1933 to 1938 for lack of funds.

The Executive Committee would like to nominate Mr. Rowland for Fellowship in The Institute, if there is any way to overcome the requirement of ten years' continuous membership. It is not believed that we should wait until 1938.

Sincerely yours,

Talmage C. Hughes

Dear Tal:

This will acknowledge yours of June 20 with regard to the case of Mr. Wirt C. Rowland. The Secretary, under general authority of The Board, can remit his Institute dues up to the end of 1946 but not beyond that. This will be put forward without delay.

A permanent remission of dues can be accomplished by electing Mr. Rowland a Member Emeritus. Herewith is a form of application which he should fill out or which should be filled out for him and sent forward to The Octagon.

With regard to his nomination for Fellowship, we enclose a form of proposal which is self-explanatory. If it is executed it should be sent to The Jury of Fellows at The Octagon - for submission to The Jury at its next meeting which will be in the Spring of 1947.

The Jury will have to decide with regard to the ten years continuous membership.

Nov 14 - 20 note
for
WIRT G. ROWLAND

Wirt G. Rowland, AIA, prominent Detroit Architect, passed away on Nov. 30, the day before his 58th birthday, at the home of his cousin, Mr. Frank Burroughs, in Grand Rapids, where he had been taken by ambulance on Nov. 27. He was unmarried. Services were at Clinton, Mich. on Tuesday, ~~Nov. 27~~ Dec. 3.

A year ago in September he became ill, necessitating his retirement from business and confinement to his home, with Mrs. F. C. Ritchie, 1536 Pennsylvania Ave., in Detroit, where he had lived for 35 years.

Born in Clinton, Mich., Dec. 1, 1878, he received his early education there, his post graduate degree at Harvard University in 1910 and continued his studies there as a graduate student in 1911.

He began his architectural experience in the office of George D. Mason, the "Dean of Michigan Architects", in 1901, continuing until 1909. He was designer for Albert Kahn from 1909 to 1911; designer and associate with ^balcenson & Higginbotham, 1911 to 1914; with Albert Kahn again, 1914-1922, and with Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, 1922-1930. From 1930 to 1938 he was a partner with H. Augustus O'Dell. For three years, during the war, he was with the firm of Giffels and Vallet, Inc., L. Rossetti, Associated Engineers and Architects, during most of which time he was at the Naval Ordnance Base, Norfolk, Va.

Wirt Rowland was one of the foremost modernists, yet steeped in tradition. His versatility was exemplified by his work - the Union-Guardian Bldg., Greater Penobscot Bldg., the Jefferson Ave., Presbyterian Church and many other structures. He was in charge of design for the leading firms during periods of Detroit's greatest building activity. The two office buildings mentioned were done about the same time and are of contemporary design, The Church of Gothic. All are from the office of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls. The Rayl Bldg., at Woodward and Grand River Avenues, was one of the first to make use of terra cotta and other modern materials. It was designed by Rowland for Baxter and O'Dell.

Rowland was a profound scholar, musician and artist. Some of his black and white drawings illustrating the music of Brahms and Bach are marvels. Recently he had been engaged, at home, on the Edwin S. George Foundation project for church sculptures and windows.

He was a member of the Detroit Chapter of The American Institute of Architects, had served as Chapter Director in 1934-35, and was recently made a member emeritus of both the Chapter and the Institute. His devotion to his profession was shown by the time he gave voluntarily toward helping the younger men. In 1918 he was president of the Thumb Tack Club of Detroit. In 1938 he was a member of the city's Civic Center Committee.
