Dear Mr. Harvey:

The Secretary is happy to inform you that your application for membership in The Institute was acted on favorably by The Board of Directors and that you were admitted to corporate membership in The Institute and assigned to membership in the Detroit Chapter, effective May 9, 1944. You will be a member of that Chapter, or of some other chapter if you later transfer thereto, until your membership in The Institute terminates.

Your certificate of membership, duly executed by the Officers of The Institute, will be sent in due course.

The Board of Directors welcomes you to membership in The Institute and The Secretary's office is at your service to the extent of its powers.

The policies and the activities of The Institute are developed largely from problems arising within the chapters. By taking an active part in your Chapter affairs you will contribute to the advancement of the objects of The Institute and will increase the benefits to be derived from Institute membership.

We bespeak your active cooperation.

Sincerely yours,

Secretary

VOLUME 21

DETROIT, MICHIGAN, NOVEMBER 11, 1947

NO. 45

Wallace Harrison, Noted Architect of UN Center, To Address ESD on November 19, 1947

The main endeavor of the Board of Design Consultants and the Associate Architects and Engineers was to create an efficient and attractive headquarters for the world representatives, a home that would meet present requirements and anticipate future needs, and serve as a workshop where the United Nations could forge a program for lasting peace. How the plans for this headquarters were developed will be described at the regular ESD meeting on November 19th by Wallace K. Harrison, Chief Architect and Director of Planning for the UN Center.

The UN Center, particularly its location on the East River, has been a subject of much controversy and the proposed development includes many problems of both architecture and engineering. Mr. Harrison, one of the outstanding architects of this country, was head of the international group of experts responsible for the planning of the center. He will disclose many of the preliminary studies and steps that determined the selections of the final scheme submitted in the Report to the General Assembly. With the aid of slides, he will also describe the proposed methods for construction and the coordination of site development with development of the surrounding area and approaches by the City of New York.

Harrison Appointed by Mayor

Mr. Harrison's interest in the United Nations coming to New York began some months ago when he was appointed by Mayor O'Dwyer as a member of the New York City Committee to help find a site for the new world organization. Mr. Harrison had already been employed by William Zeckendorf of Webb and Knapp as architect for the proposed "city within a city," which Mr. Zeckendorf was planning for the East River mid-town district. Mr. Zeckendorf, Nelson A. Rockefeller, and Mr. Harrison were working on a possible means of securing this site for the United Nations at a reasonable cost when John D. Rockefeller, Jr., made his offer to present it to the world organization.

Mr. Harrison studied at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris and at the American Academy in Rome while he held the Rotch Traveling Scholarship. He served in the first World War as a Naval Lieutenant and later became Associate Architect for the Board of Education of the City of New York. He then became an Associate Professor in the School of Architecture at Columbia University before joining the architectural firm of Helmle, Corbett and Harrison in 1927.

From 1938 to 1941 he was Associate

Professor in the School of Architecture at Yale University. In 1941 he joined the Office of Inter-American affairs where he remained until 1945 when he resigned as Director of the Office to return to his architectural firm in New York which is now Harrison and Abramovitz.

He was one of the architects of Rockefeller Center. Among other buildings Mr. Harrison executed are Fort Greene Houses; Clinton Hill, housing project for the Equitable Life Assurance Society; Avila Hotel, Caracas, Venezuela. At present he is working on the proposed Time and Life building, Aluminum Company of America building, and Idlewild Airport.

G. L. HARVEY

George L. Harvey, A.I.A., 77, prominent Port Huron architect, died in Port Huron Hospital on October 26, after a short illness.

Born in Detroit, Oct. 12, 1870, he went to Port Huron at the age of 21, after studying architecture for ten years while a draftsman in the Detroit office of Mason and Rice.

Early in life he became interested in civic, fraternal, church and military affairs. He served 24 years in the Michigan National Guards. During the Spanish-American War he rose from the rank of sergeant to adjutant of the 33rd Michigan Voluntary Infantry regiment. He took part in the Battle of Acquadore, Cuba, shortly after the regiment landed at Siboney.

He was a past master of Port Huron Lodge No. 58, F. & A. M., having served as worshipful master, and was a member of Port Huron Commandery, Knights Templar. He also held high offices in the State organization of Masons.

Mr. Harvey was a former member of the State Board of Registration for Architects and Engineers, the Michigan Society of Architects, The American Institute and its Detroit Chapter. He was mayor of Port Huron for two terms, from 1934 to 1937, and a former member of the City Park Commission. He was a charter member of the Rotary Club, secretary of the Community Service Board, and took an active interest in the Boy Scouts movement, and was a junior warden of Grace Episcopal Church.

George L. Harvey's funeral, held in Port Huron on October 29, was one of the most impressive ever held in that city.

AN OPPORTUNITY for a young architect who wants to become established—to take over the office of the late George L. Harvey, in Port Huron, Mich. Mr. Harvey had considerable work under way, and other projected work. Communicate with Mr. Harvey's son-in-law, Mr. Mosher Seeley, Port Huron.
