Such buildings as the remodeling of the Calvary Methodist Church in Annapolis, and the State Office Building in Annapolis bear direct testimony to the careful study given to the early buildings in this old town.

NOMINEE'S ACHIEVEMENTS IN SERVICE TO THE INSTITUTE

1. State fully the nominee's signal service to The Institute, his chapter, or his state organization, or to the profession, which the nominators believe has notably contributed to the advancement of the profession, and list the offices in architectural organizations occupied by the nominee and the period of each.

He was elected a member of the Institute in March 1921. In 1936, when the question arose as to writing a law to license Architects to practice in the State of Maryland, he was appointed on a committee to draft this law and took an active part in the accomplishment of this, devoting much time to the bill during its passage through the Legislature. In 1946, he was elected Vice-President of the Baltimore Chapter, served in this capacity for two years, was elected President of the Chapter in 1948, and held this office for two more years.

During the time of his presidency the State of Maryland enacted a law authorizing the formation of a Department of Public Improvements. Realizing that it was very necessary for the American Institute to participate in the formation of this Department, he offered the services of the Baltimore Chapter to the Chief Engineer. These services were accepted, committees were appointed by him as President of our Chapter, and a general program was presented, along with a standard form of contract. These were received and given careful consideration by the State, with the result that contract relations between the Architects' profession in Maryland, and the State were approved by the Attorney General and the Board of Public Works, which resulted in very satisfactory fees for an enormous program of building which is still in progress.

The City of Baltimore, also having a very large building program, sought the services of the Chapter in preparing a contract on fees. Although an enormous amount of work was devoted to the consummation of a contract with the City of Baltimore, the results in this case were not quite as satisfactory as our negotiations with the State but the fees were very greatly improved.

NOMINEE'S ACHIEVEMENT IN PUBLIC SERVICE

1. List the public offices held by the nominee and the positions of trust held by him in recognition of civic leadership, and state clearly his notable work in public service and the particular influence of that work which the nominators believe to be a notable contribution to the advancement of the profession.

Having been born in Annapolis and choosing Architecture as a profession, it was natural for him to select Colonial Architecture as an expression to be given to those buildings which came during his thirty years of practice. There are in Annapolis some twenty-odd brick houses built previous to 1780, which are in an excellent state of preservation today. It has been a pleasure and a hobby to examine, to sketch, to study and to talk about these buildings.

In 1931 he made a pictorial map of the City of Annapolis in color, showing in miniature sixteen of the most important houses in Annapolis, and on this map listed the characteristics of each one, the probable time of its building, along with a brief outline of the founding of the City of Annapolis. A photograph of this map is presented in the accompanying brochure.

For many years the citizens of Annapolis have called upon him to advise as to the maintenance and restoration of many of these old houses. He is adviser to the governing body of the Chase House in particular. Reynolds Tavern, which is the Public Library today in the City of Annapolis, has called upon him to advise as to its restoration.

The State placed in his hands the restoration of the Old Treasury Building which now stands on the State House grounds. This undertaking is about completed. With the assistance of Mr. Laurence Hall Fowler, a Fellow of the Institute, as his collaborator on this project, one of the Nation's rarest buildings has been restored to perfect condition.

The remodeling of Calvary M. E. Church on State Circle was carried out in the tradition of Annapolis. When the design of the new State Office Building was undertaken, it was done in harmony with the spirit of this charming old city. Mr. Laurence Hall Fowler was also his associate in this last undertaking.

He was President of the Rotary Club of Baltimore in 1944-45. This was right in the heart of World War II, which called for a great deal of extra time away from his profession, but which time was willingly given.

Baltimore as a City, and Maryland as a State, have always been famous for good food. With the advent of Prohibition and World War II interfering with the normal trend of the lives of our people, the consciousness of the heritage of dining well seemed to be forgotten. Believing that the loss of such a heritage would be something to be regretted, Mr. Hopkins, with the help of several other men in Baltimore, organized a Wine and Food Society in 1945. He is now the President of this Society. Once again the people in Baltimore have an opportunity to participate in historic dinners similar to those prepared by famous men of early Maryland. This type of cultural enterprise has been met with a great deal of enthusiasm throughout the city and many outstanding dinners of a historic nature have been given since the Society has been organized, and once again the people in Baltimore have had a rare opportunity in realizing what kind of food was used by the famous Marylanders of the past.

One of the most patriotic organizations in Baltimore is the Sons of the American Revolution. For twenty years Mr. Hopkins has been an active member, serving on all the committees of this organization, and has been elected to the office of Vice-President. The Baltimore Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution has always been very militant and has made a great effort to keep alive the spirit of patriotism which they believe has been so necessary in recent years, and his contribution to the success of this group of men has been of great value to Baltimore.

Prior to the establishment of the Department of Public Improvements, the State had no guiding department to develop its public institutions. No money was every appropriated to pay an Architect to develop the overall plans of these places. As he was the Architect for several institutions, an effort was made by him to bring about a comprehensive, overall picture of the development of the large institutions at Springfield, Spring Grove, and Rosewood, and up until the founding of the Department of Public Improvements, his time and effort professionally were gladly given to the authorities of the State in trying to guide them sensibly and soundly in these developments. This was a public service which was gladly rendered.

The Department of Public Improvements approached him while he was President of the Baltimore Chapter, for advice about a Building Code for the State of Maryland. Meetings were held and various members of the Chapter were presented with this problem, with the result that committees were appointed and an adequate Building Code is being prepared and written, through the advice of our members.

Our State is composed of 23 counties. The relationship between these counties and their building programs, as to contract relations with Architects, has been loose, disjointed, and not standard. Along with other members of the Chapter, efforts have been made to draw up a contract which is standard in form, equitable to the 23 counties and the Architects. Negotiations have been going on for months and it is hoped that our efforts will eventually bear fruit and bring about an improvement between the Architect and the various counties in the future.

Dear Mr. Purves:

I have your communication of March 14, relative to your conferring upon me the honor of Fellowship. I am not only grateful to The Jury at the Octagon, but to those Architects in Baltimore with whom I have been associated for so many years and whose kindness has made such a high honor possible. I sincerely trust that you will express to The Jury of Fellows my deep appreciation for such an honor.

I am looking forward with pleasure to attending the Convention in Chicago, May 8 to 11, and have made my reservation at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Sincerely yours,

HENRY POWELL HOPKINS

HOPKINS, HENRY POWELL, F.A.I.A., Baltimore, Maryland

Henry Powell Hopkins has been advanced to Fellowship for achievement in design, public service and service to the Institute. Inspired by the handsome 18th Century houses of Annapolis, his birthplace, Hopkins has devoted himself to the study, preservation, restoration and publicizing of these historic colonial buildings, which have influenced all his own work in design. In his service to the profession and the public he has been tireless in his efforts to procure satisfactory architectural fees and contracts on state, and municipal building programs and has worked closely with public officials to achieve that end. His advice was sought on a building code for the State, with the result that an adequate code is now in preparation.

Born in Annapolis in 1891, Hopkins attended school and spent two years at St. Johns College there. He took a year at Cornell, followed by four at Columbia, from which he received a B.Arch. in 1914. First employed in the office of Howe and Hoyt in Kansas City. He then became an instructor in the department of architecture at Texas A. and M. College. He worked as an architectural designer in the offices of Albro and Lindeberg in New York, at the same time giving an evening extension course in the history of architecture at Columbia. He commenced practice in Baltimore in 1919 where he has remained ever since, with offices at 10 East Mulberry Street.

Examples of Hopkin's work in design are: buildings at Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville, Md., 1926-50; buildings at Washington College, Chestertown, 1930-39; buildings at University of Maryland, College Park, 1939-50; Carver High and Mars Estates Elementary schools, Baltimore, 1949-50; Baetjer house, Baltimore, 1925; Tydings house, Havre de Grace, 1926; remodeling Trippe residence, Talbot County, 1922; remodeling Calvary Methodist Church, Annapolis, 1921; remodeling State Office Building, Annapolis, 1939; remodeling Kingston Hall, Mathews Court-house, Va., 1941; restoration, Old Treasury Building, Annapolis, 1950. All his work bears testimony to the careful study given to the early buildings in Annapolis.

In 1931 Hopkins made a pictorial map of the city of Annapolis, illustrated with sketches of some of the early buildings and outlining the history and characteristics of each. He has been advisor to the historical associations on the maintenance and preservation of several of the houses, and on his own, and in collaboration with Laurance Hall Fowler, has worked on important restorations.

Hopkins has been a member of the Institute since 1921, was vice-president of the Baltimore Chapter from 1946 to 1948, and president from 1948 to 1950. In 1936 he served on the committee appointed to draft a law licensing architectural practice in the State, giving much time to writing the bill and promoting it in the legislature prior to final passage. As President of the Chapter, he made available his services and those of the Chapter to the Chief Engineer of the State Department of Public Improvements, thereby effecting a satisfactory contract and fee arrangement on architectural work for the state.

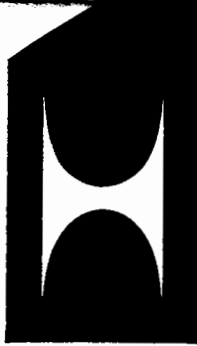

Other organizations to which Hopkins belongs include the Rotary Club of Baltimore, of which he was president during 1944-45; Sons of the American Revolution; and the Baltimore Wine and Food Society, which he organized and now heads.

Dear Mrs. Marx:

I have just discovered that, due to my age, I do not have to pay annual dues any longer.

I was born in 1891; I am eighty-one years of age. I joined the A.I.A. March 10, 1921, and was raised to Fellowship March 8, 1951.

This is my application for the status of emeritus which I understand will relieve me of any dues. Inasmuch as I have paid my dues for 1972, I would appreciate your refunding this sum.

Very truly yours,

Henry Powell Hopkins
