An architect is advanced to Fellowship in recognition of exceptional ability or of exceptional service. The Jury of Fellows always tries to choose wisely and with discrimination, but it is limited in precise knowledge about the nominees.

To complete Nomination this form must be filled and returned before February 1st. Otherwise, no action will be taken at the forthcoming Jury meeting.

It is the opinion of the Jury of Fellows that a designer, however talented, should not be advanced to Fellowship if he possesses deficiencies of character which reflect discredit upon the profession; and that no architect, regardless of outstanding service, should be advanced if the buildings which he has designed are so notably inferior in architectural design as to reflect discredit upon the profession.

To help the Jury learn such aspects, which are not normally completely supplied through regular nomination procedure, fill in the lines below which in your opinion apply to A. Quincy Jones and return this sheet in the addressed envelope provided.

1. Has he many friends who speak well of him? VERY MANY.
2. Do they also vouch for his accomplishments? YES
3. Would his ethics be acceptable in business? YES.

FACTUAL

Honorable Jury:

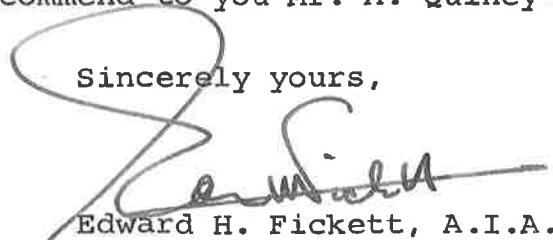

I was elated to find that among those names being considered for Fellowship in the Institute was the name of A. Quincy Jones. I have had the good fortune of having Quincy Jones as a personal friend during the last eight years. During various speaking engagements we have had the opportunity of working together and I have come to know him as a gentleman and an extremely talented architect.

The impression of Mr. Jones' designs upon the general public is one of the best public relations mediums we in the Institute have. His continual striving to produce excellent architecture is certainly to be highly complimented. I can think of no one among the young professionals better qualified for consideration as a Fellow.

Aside from his personal practice, Mr. Jones has been a professor at the University of Southern California, and has made a lasting impression upon the young students and graduates of this great school. As we continually strive to better our profession consideration should, I believe, be given those members of our profession who have seen fit to give of their personal time and effort, and it is therefore a great pleasure to me that Mr. A. Quincy Jones is among the chosen few selected by the Institute for consideration as Fellows.

It is with great respect that I recommend to you Mr. A. Quincy Jones.

Sincerely yours,

Edward H. Fickett, A.I.A.

I would like to enclose with your information form a personal note of commendation for A. Q. Jones.

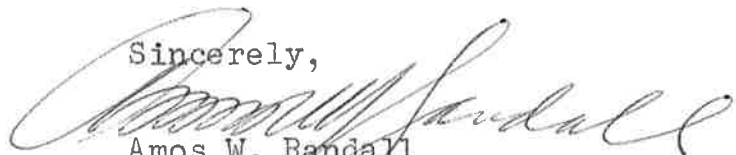

My first contact with A.Q. was at the time he was chief designer for the architectural firm doing work for the Navy at Roosevelt Base, Terminal Island, California. He was well liked and respected by his co-workers.

Since that time he has won numerous awards for the excellence of his architectural work. His facile mind has contributed greatly to the development of architecture in this area, particularly in the development and use of new materials and new uses for old materials.

A.Q. is a leader, not only in his own field, but in his community. He is respected by his contemporaries as being a man of accomplishment and good character.

It gives me great pleasure to recommend to you for advancement to fellowship Mr. A. Quincy Jones, a member of the Southern California Chapter, American Institute of Architects.

Gentlemen:

Nearly twenty-three years ago A. Quincy Jones, a young graduate of the University of Washington, was highly recommended to my partner at that time (Douglas Honnold F.A.I.A.) and to me by members of the University faculty. We acted upon the suggestion and hired him even though our work and resources were of a rather meager character. From the very outset it was obvious that we had chosen well.

During the year he spent with us it became apparent that we had a young man who was dedicated to our profession and to the idea that even the most menial office tasks had a bearing on his preparation for eventual maturity. He did everything well and we were sorry to see him leave on a quest for more diverse experience. His influence for the good on the work of other offices in which he worked became noticeable even before the war.

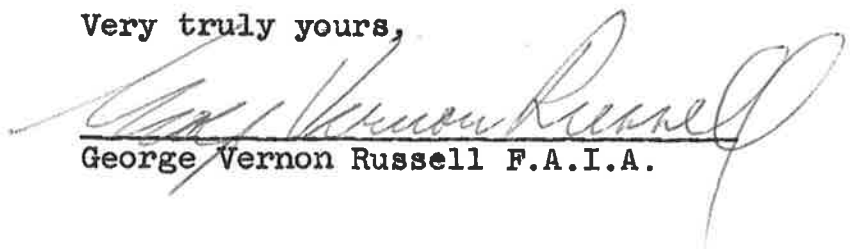

His subsequent distinguished service as an officer in the U. S. Navy under most difficult combat conditions contributed to the development of leadership qualities that have been in evidence since his entry into architectural practice.

As a colleague in the same community, as a fellow alumnus of the University of Washington, as a co-member of the Faculty of the University of Southern California and as immediate past president of the Southern California Chapter of the A.I.A., I have had more than usual opportunities to observe his development and I was most pleased to see him recently elected to the vice presidency of our Chapter.

Recitation of his design achievements has no doubt been made by others. I can only add that along with his talent as a designer, he has the qualities that add up to the making of a truly distinguished architect.

I hope for your favorable consideration of his candidacy for Fellowship.

Very truly yours,

George Vernon Russell F.A.I.A.

I am writing on behalf of the nomination of Mr. A. Quincy Jones. Mr. Jones' talents as a designer have earned him national recognition and a very substantial practice in this country and abroad.

Nevertheless, he has managed to find time to serve his profession both as a teacher of Architectural Design at the University of Southern California and as Vice President of the Southern California Chapter, A.I.A.

Mr. Jones is so obviously outstanding in those qualities that Fellowship is intended to honor that I can urge his selection with complete confidence.

Re - Fellowship Nominee - A. Quincy Jones

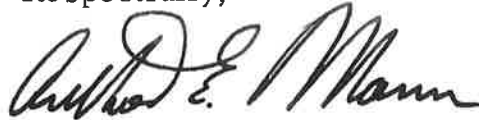

Gentlemen:

The fact sheet which undoubtedly is in your hands covers the professional life and activities of the Nominee. There is little I can add to it.

My contribution covers personal knowledge of the ability and character of the Nominee. I have known him for almost twenty years; during that time I have never known him do a selfish or mean act. He is an inspiration to the people working with and for him. He gives of himself unstintingly to the profession and to the young people coming into it. His fresh approach to design, his ability to execute that design in terms of practical documents and then follow through with proper supervision to make a complete job in all respects is almost without parallel.

I trust the Jury of Fellows will consider and act favorably on the nomination of Mr. Jones because he is fully worthy of that honor.

Respectfully,

Gentlemen:

It has come to my attention that A. Quincy Jones has been nominated by the Southern California Chapter for advancement to Fellowship in the American Institute of Architects.

Mr. Jones is one of the outstanding designers and planners of California. The various projects of his firm, which extend up and down the Coast, have won at least a dozen awards to my knowledge, many of them of the Institute. He has lectured and served on panel discussions at many conventions of our allied professions, as well as participating in our own national conventions. He has lectured and talked at several technical and architectural schools in California, and serves as a member of the faculty in Fifth Year Design at the University of Southern California.

Mr. Jones is looked upon with high regard by his fellow practitioners, not only for his outstanding excellence in design, but also for his participation in professional affairs. He will serve as the new Vice President of the Southern California Chapter, A.I.A., which in itself is indicative of this esteem.

I recommend Mr. Jones most highly to you for advancement to Fellowship in the Institute for Achievement in Design.

Gentlemen:

I am writing this letter on behalf of A. Quincy Jones who has been nominated by the Southern California Chapter for advancement to fellowship in the field of architectural design.

I have known Mr. Jones for the past twenty years as a personal friend as well as being thoroughly acquainted with his professional career during these years.

In the field of architectural design Mr. Jones has excelled; his contributions to the improvement of architectural design in tract houses has been outstanding, as well as the complete design of the community in which the houses were located. The recent Greenmedow Community Development in Palo Alto, California won an award in the Progressive Architecture Design Awards program and in addition won two separate awards from the National Association of Home Builders.

The outstanding work performed by Mr. Jones has given him an excellent background and he has lectured at two national AIA Conventions and at the National Association of Home Builders annual convention. In addition to these achievements he is a member of the Fifth Year Design faculty at the University of Southern California and has given lectures on television covering new concepts of structure and design, and at the department of architecture, California State Polytechnic at San Luis Obispo.

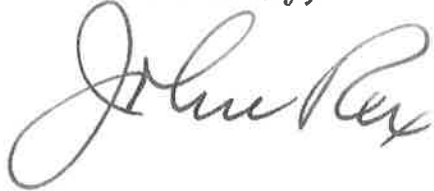

Mr. Jones' outstanding design work has brought him a national First Honor award and numerous Honor Awards given by the Southern California Chapter of the Institute as well as three National Awards of Merit for the Jones House, the Emmons House and the Crestwood Hills Community for Mutual Housing Association in Brentwood, California. These as well as other awards testify to the ability and understanding Mr. Jones has for architectural design; his work has been outstanding in our region.

Gentlemen:

It is with great pleasure that I note Mr. A. Quincey Jones, Architect, has been proposed for Fellowship in the American Institute of Architects for achievement in design.

Mr. Jones' accomplishments in the practice of Architecture and Community Planning have long been recognized by the profession and general public.

As a student of Mr. Jones in the fifth year Design Class at the University of Southern California in 1952, I was privileged to have a close association with Mr. Jones along with many other students who have since become practicing architects. This experience is one that has been of tremendous value to me as well as to my fellow classmates. Mr. Jones imparted a philosophy of design and practice of architecture that will maintain its mark for a great many years to come upon all of those who had the opportunity to study under him. It is with great pleasure that I endorse the nomination of Mr. Jones as a Fellow in the American Institute of Architects.

I trust that the Jury of Fellows will see fit to bestow the Fellowship upon an Architect who is most worthy of the award not only as a designer of fine architecture, but also as a scholar and a gentleman.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen -

I note that A. Quincy Jones has been nominated for elevation to Fellowship by our Southern California Chapter and wish to give my support to Mr. Jones, as I consider him one of our outstanding architects in this area.

He has achieved design stature mainly for homes and community housing, such as his National First Honor Award, A.I.A., for the Hvistendahl House in San Diego, the distinguished honor award, Southern California Chapter, AIA for the Girls' Camp for the Department of Recreation and Parks for Los Angeles, his honor award from Southern California Chapter, AIA for the Crestwood Community for Mutual Housing Association of Brentwood, and awards of merit for several other residences in this area and one in Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Jones has taught eight years as fifth year design critic in the College of Architecture at the University of Southern California, has published a successful book titled "Builders Homes for Better Living" and several articles for various magazines and AIA Bulletins. He has lectured before two national AIA conventions and five NAHB conventions, and at the St. Louis University and California Institute of Technology, UCLA and several other universities in our area.

He has been of great value to his community in that he has demonstrated a keen understanding that good design is most important to his community and each individual building must be considered a part of its community.

It is my firm belief that Mr. Jones deserves the honor of being made a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, and it gives me great pleasure to add my recommendation for his election.

Sincerely,

Welton Becket, F. A. I. A.

RE: Nomination of A. Quincy
Jones to Fellowship

Gentlemen:

I wish to strongly support the nomination of Mr. Jones for Fellowship in the American Institute of Architects.

I believe it is a matter of considerable importance that this year the Southern California Chapter has nominated Mr. Jones as a sole new candidate. Confidentially, since I sat as a member of the local committee recommending the selection of possible candidates, I can assure you that his election by our group was unanimous and immediate.

There is no question as to his ability and attainment in the field of design.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen:

I am very happy to support A. Quincy Jones' nomination for Fellowship. I have known him for 15 years, and consider him one of the real talents of our time. The photographs of his work will show his great skill as a planner and designer, and his tremendous appreciation for the land as he finds it. You will also see his rare gift for handling landscape work.

I don't know which jobs will be in his folio to illustrate his interiors, but from my point of view Quincy Jones is one of those true architects whose interiors are very much a part of the whole and his skill in this area is very significant.

He is probably the most deserving man in Southern California to be recognized for his achievements in design.

I have worked with Quincy as a colleague in teaching for more than five years. His ability to convey his philosophy to students is of the highest order; consequently, all he has to offer has been given freely to a lot of young men.

As a person Quincy Jones is a credit to us all. As an architect an enormous amount of fine work is already behind him, but I will say without hesitation that he will do even greater work in the future. The Institute by awarding him his Fellowship will in my opinion be recognizing one of the few authentically talented designers of our time.

There is no doubt in my mind that Mr. Quincy Jones has made significant contributions to architecture as a whole and to the professional standing of the architect. He has been successfully improving the superiority of architectural services.

Gentlemen:

It is a privilege to be able to write this endorsement for the nomination of Mr. A. Quincy Jones for Fellowship in the American Institute of Architects. Mr. Jones' professional accomplishments are a matter of record.

However, I would like to point out his ability as a teacher and his contributions to the education of our future architects which have consisted of a great investment of time and personal expense with no financial return.

Over the years Mr. Jones has always made himself available to students. Annually he has made two-day trips to our school, spending time lecturing, "critting" student work and conducting design problems. He has arranged for student field trips through his office and his projects, making contact with owners to secure student access. The apprentice program and assistance he has provided our graduates in his employ is excellent.

We feel fortunate that a man of such talent and stature is consistently willing to make this personal sacrifice and investment, especially in these days of financial difficulty for schools and with the lack of interest in education by professionals.

We would vote for Mr. A. Q. Jones' elevation to Fellowship for no other reason than his contribution to education alone.

Gentlemen:

A. Quincy Jones of the Southern California Chapter AIA has been nominated for elevation to Fellowship in The Institute.

Quincy Jones is perhaps one of our most imaginative architects. Uniquely combined with that distinction is a down-to-earth practicality. His buildings, many of which I have seen personally, use materials in a most natural manner but his feeling for form and juxtaposition give the completed building a distinction and originality that few architects are privileged to impart.

As an example of the down-to-earth quality which I mentioned his firm, Jones and Emmons, has designed several thousand houses for operative home builders and has done so successfully. Their influence on the mass home building business has been strong and continues to be so. In a business where the usual dictum has been "Let's not do anything that won't sell" the decision of the home builder has been to do the utterly banal. However Quincy Jones has convinced a number of enlightened home builders that the public actually wants good design. The success of his good design has been borne out not only in the sales of the houses but in the awards which they have received from the AIA, the local Chapter, and many other interested groups, including the National Association of Home Builders. There is no doubt but the public generally is getting better houses in the lower cost mass market because of the work that Quincy and his associates have done in that field.

I dwell on his work in the operative building field because I am particularly acquainted with it. However I have seen many of his buildings, commercial, church, fine residences, and others, and the same imagination and understanding of materials and human needs pervades these as well. In general I think it would not only honor Quincy and his Chapter but also would encourage the younger generation of architects should Quincy be elevated to Fellowship. Therefore I recommend most earnestly that A. Quincy Jones be elevated to Fellowship in The American Institute of Architects.

I am informed that the Southern California Chapter, AIA, has nominated A. Quincy Jones for elevation to Fellowship in the Institute. I wish to support this nomination.

Quincy Jones has been an unusually effective member of the profession, both as a designer and technician, and as an active participant in many educational and inspirational programs.

Mr. Jones' work, in all categories of building, ranging from builder houses and very distinguished custom designed houses to larger commercial and public structures, has won well-deserved recognition. Through lectures, time spent in teaching, television and radio programs, and publications such as his very important book: "Builders' Homes for Better Living," Mr. Jones has been most effective in spreading knowledge of architecture to the general public and to student groups.

SUBJECT: PROPOSED FELLOWSHIP FOR MR. A. QUINCY JONES.

GENTLEMEN:

I HAVE RECENTLY BEEN ADVISED OF MR. A. QUINCY JONES NOMINATION FOR A PROPOSED FELLOWSHIP IN THE INSTITUTE FOR ACHIEVEMENT IN DESIGN. IT IS A GREAT PRIVILEGE TO BE GIVEN THIS OPPORTUNITY TO EXPRESS MY PERSONAL OPINION OF MR. JONES AND HIS WORK.

I AM ONE OF MR. JONES FORMER ARCHITECTURAL STUDENTS FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, CLASS OF 54. DURING MY SECOND YEAR IN ARCHITECTURE, WE WERE GIVEN AN ASSIGNMENT OF SELECTING A LOCAL ARCHITECT AND ONE OF HIS HOUSES AND TRY TO ARRANGE A MEETING WITH THIS ARCHITECT TO DISCUSS HIS THEORY OF DESIGN AND THE RESULTANT SOLUTION. EVEN AT THAT TIME IN MY LIFE, THOUGH I HAD NEVER MET THE MAN, I WAS A GREAT ADMIRER OF MR. JONES'S WORK.

I CALLED HIM FOR AN APPOINTMENT, AND UPON MY ARRIVAL AT HIS OFFICE, I PROCEEDED TO TELL HIM MY ASSIGNMENT. WHEN I WAS THROUGH, HE ASKED ME IF I WAS BUSY THAT EVENING AND WOULD I JOIN HIM AND HIS FAMILY AT HIS HOME FOR DINNER, AFTER WHICH WE COULD DISCUSS THE PROBLEM IN A MORE RELAXED MANNER. IT WAS WELL PAST MIDNIGHT WHEN WE WERE THROUGH, BUT I HAD BEEN BLESSED WITH ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT INTERVIEWS OF MY LIFE. THIS ACT IS TYPICAL OF MR. JONES AND HIS KEEN INTEREST IN FUTURE ARCHITECTS. LATER IN MY GRADUATE YEAR, I WORKED DIRECTLY WITH MR. JONES AND AGAIN HIS DISPLAY OF INTEREST AND UNDERSTANDING WAS GIVEN EACH AND EVERY STUDENT. WITHOUT RESERVATION GENTLEMEN, I AM CONFIDENT, THAT EVERY ARCHITECTURAL STUDENT THAT IS PRIVILEGED TO STUDY UNDER MR. JONES, REALIZES THAT THIS MAN IS MORE THAN AN ARCHITECT OR AN INSTRUCTOR. THIS MAN IS MUCH MORE THAN ANY AWARD THAT COULD BE BESTOWED UPON HIM. THIS MAN IS A LIVING IDEAL IN ARCHITECTURE.

Re: A. Quincy Jones, AIA, Architect

Honorable Jury:

May I take this opportunity to personally recommend Mr. A. Quincy Jones, AIA, Architect, who I understand is being considered for Fellowship in the Institute. Mr. Quincy Jones has been a personal friend for many years. It has been a privilege to have worked with him on various programs and speaking engagements involving the National Association of Home Builders and other national organizations. I have come to know Mr. Jones as a true architect and gentleman, and one of those extremely talented individuals whom I believe to be best representative of the American Institute of Architects.

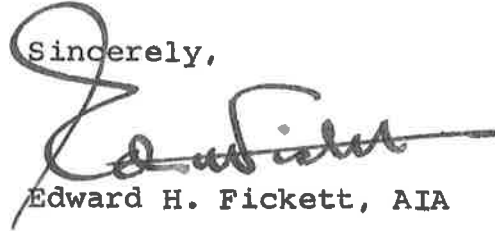

During the last ten years the designs of Mr. A. Quincy Jones have made a very great impression on those followers of the arts. His understanding and successes in land planning and community development have made his name a by-word in California. His continued and ever increasing effort to better the design principles by which architects should be known is certainly to be commended. I greatly regret that more professionals in our organization do not have the true architectural ability with which Mr. Jones is endowed.

Mr. Jones has given of his personal time in the educational field, being a professor at the University of Southern California for the past four years. He has made a lasting impression upon the students in this school of architecture.

Among those architects being considered for Fellowship,
I sincerely believe there is no one in our profession
more qualified and fitting to receive the honor of Fellow.

It is a great pleasure for me to recommend to the Jury
the name of A. Quincy Jones, AIA, Architect.

Gentlemen:

By virtue of his many national and regional awards, outstanding reputation in the field of design and teaching, and other accomplishments, Mr. A. Q. Jones fulfills most of the recognized requisites for admission to Fellowship in the A.I.A.

I should like to strengthen his application on the grounds of his professional relations and personal conduct over the space of some twelve years. Mr. Jones, during the time I have known him, has always acted in the best interests of the total profession and particularly of his fellow practitioners. Despite his demanding practice, he has contributed measurably to the solutions of many problems we collectively face and has for many years given up valuable time to teach and mentor the students of the College of Architecture, University of Southern California.

I feel that Fellowship bestowed on A.Q. Jones would fittingly acknowledge the respect and admiration of many students, architects, civic officials and lay people in our state.

Gentlemen:

I understand that A. Quincy Jones of the Southern California Chapter is being considered again this year for Fellowship in the Institute.

As you may know, Mr. Jones has been elected President of the Southern California Chapter for next year which is an indication of what his fellow architects think about him. I have known him for a number of years now and he is one of the most talented architects that I have had the pleasure to know. His designs are fresh and forceful and he has the distinction of having done more in the field of merchant housing than any architect in the country. This is a category of building which has all but been lost to the profession. He has carried to the buying public very high standards of architecture.

As an architect, Quincy Jones has achieved fame not only in this country, but abroad and I believe that advancement to Fellowship is highly deserved.

Sincerely yours,

Gentlemen:

I regret that due to carelessness on my part a letter was not sent you when the name of A. Quincy Jones, of the Southern California Chapter, was first submitted to you for consideration for a Fellowship. I am pleased to submit this letter for your information at the time when you meet to consider nominations for 1960.

It has been my pleasure to know Mr. Jones for about twenty years, and during this time have become acquainted with his thoughts on architecture and have enjoyed seeing many of his completed buildings. I believe that his approach to the solution of a problem has been good, whether the problem be that of a clubhouse for the wealthy, a factory building, a government structure, a luxury house, or a modest house for the middle income group.

In particular, I believe that his contribution in the development of good tract housing has been very important. The completed houses and their relationship with each other have shown that the benefits of good architectural design and site planning can be made available to large groups of people, and that mass production methods need not end up in sterile and conforming design.

I continue to admire and respect the manner in which he has conducted his architectural practice, and am very pleased to add these words in his behalf.

Very truly,

I am writing this letter on behalf of A. Quincy Jones, who has been nominated by the Southern California Chapter for advancement to Fellowship.

I have known Mr. Jones for the past twenty years and believe he has displayed his capabilities in the design of buildings and structures which would qualify him for this highest honor given by The Institute.

Mr. Jones has consistently won prizes for his outstanding contributions to home design in the California area. His work with a Mr. Joseph Eichler, a tract developer and home builder in San Francisco have resulted in outstanding contributions to this important phase of our architectural work. Mr. Jones has contributed his talent as an exceptional designer in this team.

In addition to his outstanding work in the field of homes, he has won many honors in the Honor Awards Program sponsored by the Southern California Chapter for his designs of industrial buildings, commercial buildings, and Church Design. He has also just been elected to presidency of the Southern California Chapter A. I. A.

I believe Mr. Jones to be an architect distinctly qualified for elevation to Fellowship and highly recommend him to the Jury of Fellows.

Three of us including myself are alumni of Mr. Jones office dating from as early as 12 years ago to as recently as 1 year ago. I use the term alumni as we feel it was a good education in architectural practice and especially in methods and modes of design.

I believe that his success in the design aspect of architecture has come from 2 major factors. First, there is his exceptionally fine hand in design, a fertile imagination and an observant eye for detail. Secondly, he allows employees and associates considerable latitude to express there own ideas in design while providing a firm sense of direction and guiding hand where needed.

Hoping you will find him worthy of this great honor.

This letter is written on behalf of A. Quincy Jones who has been nominated by the Southern California Chapter for advancement to fellowship in the field of architectural design.

I have known Quincy Jones since 1936. As a matter of fact, I gave him his first job after his graduation from the University of Washington. His professional and personal development as an architect has been a source of great pride and interest to me. His contributions to the understanding and improvement of architectural design have been outstanding.

His record of achievement is well known. Many honor awards are part of his record. Among these are a national First Honor Award, three national Awards of Merit, a Distinguished Honor Award and other Honor Awards, Southern California Chapter, A.I.A., Award of Merit, National Association of Home Builders.

Quincy's abilities and interests cover a wide field. He has lectured at two national A.I.A. conventions and at the National Association of Home Builders annual convention. He has given lectures on television covering new concepts of structure and design, and at the Department of Architecture, California State Polytechnic at San Luis Obispo.

In addition to these achievements, he has been a member of the Fifth Year Design faculty at the University of Southern California for many years. I have shared this experience with him, and have observed his inspiration to the students.

He has been elected president of the Southern California Chapter for 1960.

I believe A. Quincy Jones worthy of advancement to Fellowship in the Institute, and it gives me personal and professional pleasure to recommend him to the Jury of Fellows.

This letter is written in support of the nomination of A. Quincy Jones of the Southern California Chapter for advancement to Fellowship in the American Institute of Architects.

I would like to write about just one of the many phases of Mr. Jones' design accomplishment, with which I am particularly familiar, his work in the development housing field. This is an area of architectural activity which few of our members have entered and even fewer have been able to produce a successful result. Mr. Jones has been a leader in the field producing many distinguished designs for moderately priced houses as well as being a leader in subdivision design and community planning. His house and subdivision designs for Eichler Homes in the San Francisco Bay area have won many awards and are outstanding examples of professional work in this field. Mr. Jones has thereby enhanced the stature of the profession not only by his design ability but also by his high standards of professional practice.

Mr. Jones has also been extremely active in the interests of the profession and of the American Institute of Architects, which activity is signaled by the fact that he is the President-elect of the Southern California Chapter for next year.

Because of his great design ability, professional competence and service to The Institute, I heartily recommend Mr. Jones to you as most worthy of the honor of Fellowship in the American Institute of Architects.

Honorable Jury,

I solicit this opportunity to write on behalf of Mr. A. Quincy Jones of Los Angeles. In explanation, let me state that I have been a registered architect since 1956 and a member of the institute since 1957 and have had my own practice for approximately two years. Recently an example of my work received design recognition in the Sunset-A.I.A. Awards Program, which is significant only in that it reflects the powerful influence Mr. Jones has had in guiding my career, and I am certain many other young architects feel as I do.

While I was an undergraduate at the University of Southern California, Mr. Jones was a truly inspirational instructor and his interest in his students extends well past the limits of the classroom. More than once I can recall Mr. Jones sacrificing personal social engagements so that he could spend more time with his students.

I recall an incident some time ago when Mr. Jones dropped by my studio to chat and to see my work. This occurred at a time when his office was very busy. In itself this visit would not be worth recording except that I feel this typifies the attitude of "A-Q" toward the men in our profession who he feels will benefit by the encouragement and help of more established architects.

I cannot take it upon myself to cite the many virtues of Mr. Jones or elaborate upon his tremendous design ability. There are many who are more capable than I to do so. I merely wish to convey to you the deep feeling I have for a man I know to be a fine leader, counselor, and certainly a great architect.

Respectfully,

Robert H. Skinner

Gentlemen:

I should like to supplement my letter of last year urging your most favorable consideration of the nomination of Mr. A. Quincy Jones for elevation to Fellowship.

During 1959, Mr. Jones' activities and accomplishments have added another page to an already distinguished career. Members of the Southern California Chapter have learned to look to him for leadership in Institute affairs and have elected him to be their president in 1960. His mature judgment, his thoroughly professional attitude and his consideration of his colleagues in practice have endeared him to all of us as one who is a true architect worthy of being known as a Fellow in the Institute.

I hope your Jury, this year, finds it appropriate to so recognize Mr. A. Quincy Jones.

Very truly yours,

Maynard Lyndon

Gentlemen:

It gives me pleasure at this time to recommend for your consideration for advancement to Fellowship both Paul Hunter and A. Quincy Jones of the Southern California Chapter.

I have been personally acquainted with Mr. Hunter's architectural work since he first started practice and I believe it is outstanding in quality, both as to planning and design. From my personal knowledge, Mr. Hunter has also devoted many years of service to the American Institute both locally and nationally.

Mr. A. Quincy Jones is recognized as an outstanding designer, especially in the residential field in the area.
We have no hesitancy in recommending him also for your consideration.

Sincerely yours,

Honorable Jury,

I solicit this opportunity to write on behalf of Mr. A. Quincy Jones of Los Angeles. In explanation, let me state that I have been a registered architect since 1956 and a member of the institute since 1957 and have had my own practice for approximately two years. Recently an example of my work received design recognition in the Sunset-A.I.A. Awards Program, which is significant only in that it reflects the powerful influence Mr. Jones has had in guiding my career, and I am certain many other young architects feel as I do.

While I was an undergraduate at the University of Southern California, Mr. Jones was a truly inspirational instructor and his interest in his students extends well past the limits of the classroom. More than once I can recall Mr. Jones sacrificing personal social engagements so that he could spend more time with his students.

I recall an incident some time ago when Mr. Jones dropped by my studio to chat and to see my work. This occurred at a time when his office was very busy. In itself this visit would not be worth recording except that I feel this typifies the attitude of "A-Q" toward the men in our profession who he feels will benefit by the encouragement and help of more established architects.

I cannot take it upon myself to cite the many virtues of Mr. Jones or elaborate upon his tremendous design ability. There are many who are more capable than I to so do. I merely wish to convey to you the deep feeling I have for a man I know to be a fine leader, counselor, and certainly a great architect.

Respectfully,

Robert H. Skinner

Sincerely yours,

Re: A. Quincy Jones

Gentlemen:

The name of A. Quincy Jones has been proposed by the Southern California Chapter for advancement to Fellowship in the Institute for his achievement in design.

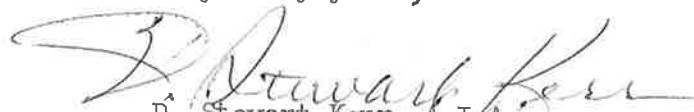

The accomplishments of Mr. Jones in the field of architecture are well known throughout the State of California and the United States. His work has been singled out for excellency in design on several occasions. He has been the recipient of several national as well as local awards in that field.

He has contributed immensely to the development and the maintenance of the high standards of the architectural profession in our community by devoting generously of his time to students of architecture, acting as an instructor and critic of architectural design at the University of Southern California.

The Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architecture has recently indicated the esteem in which they hold Mr. Jones by electing him to the presidency of that Chapter.

I would most enthusiastically recommend him to your Committee for the honor for which his Chapter has presented him, and invite your favorable consideration of his nomination.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen:

This letter is being written in the support of A. Quincy Jones to Fellowship in the American Institute of Architects.

I have known Mr. Jones for the past ten years, during which period he has risen to the foreground in our community. To a great extent, this has been brought about by his own fine ability in design, and by his further ability to guide and inspire those who are associated with him. The work of his firm has been recognized many times in various architectural competitions. His firm and ours share some mutual clients, and I am able, therefore, to know that they rank Mr. Jones as among the three or four best designers on the West Coast.

I feel that his long and able association with the School of Architecture at the University of Southern California is another factor which bears consideration, inasmuch as he has for years used this opportunity to pass on to the younger men in our profession his own background, knowledge, and experience.

I earnestly recommend him for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Charles Luckman, A. I. A.

Gentlemen:

It was good to hear that A. Quincy Jones has been nominated for Fellowship in the Institute. In one way, I found the news startling however, since to all of us in the Southern California Chapter, A. Q. always has seemed the very image of a Fellow of the Institute. Because of the consistently high calibre of his design and planning work, and the dedication he has exhibited toward community affairs and Institute programs, we tend to forget that recognition, in terms of Institute Fellowship, has not yet been formalized.

I sincerely trust therefore, that the Honorable Jury will see fit to make a formal recognition of the contribution this architect makes, in the name of the profession, by advancing A. Quincy Jones to Fellowship.

Sincerely

Wayne R. Williams
