Mr. Andrew Deland, AIA
144 Brattle Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138

Dear Mr. Deland:

As you are aware, every corporate member of The Institute must be assigned to a local chapter and state organization where such exists, and pay dues and assessments levied by the chapter and state.

When local dues remain unpaid, the component may request The Institute to terminate the membership.

It is a long-established policy of The Board of Directors of The Institute to support the components in this procedure but not without making every effort to bring about the restoration of the good standing of the corporate member involved.

The chapter to which you are assigned has requested that your corporate membership be terminated for nonpayment of chapter dues.

The purpose of this letter is to suggest that you make payment of all outstanding dues, and thereby preserve your membership.

Your response will be appreciated prior to April 24, 1972 for we must act on the recommendation to terminate your membership unless it is withdrawn by that date.

Please send your check to:

Elizabeth Demas, Executive Secretary
Boston Society of Architects, AIA

If there are any questions, don't hesitate to let us or your chapter know.

Maureen Marx, Director
Membership Procedures
The American Institute of Architects

Washington, D.C. 20036

Dear Mrs. Marx:

I was not aware that membership in the national organization of The American Institute of Architects (and payment of its substantial annual dues) presupposed additional membership in its social arm, the local chapter (and payment of its equally substantial annual dues), but now that I am aware of it I must admit it sounds rather like double taxation.

I have enjoyed membership in The American Institute of Architects. I think much of its work is extremely valid. If, however, it is not possible to belong to the national organization without also being attached to one of its oftentimes vapid local components, why then I fear we must throw out the baby with the bath water.

Sincerely,

Andrew Daland

Dear Mr. Deland:

We have received your letter of April 10.

It's not possible to be a member of the national AIA without also being assigned to a chapter and state organization. We regret that you choose to accept the termination action over this condition to membership.

We know that your Regional Director will be interested in your comments and are calling them to his attention.

Sincerely yours,
