For Secretary: One to Be Elected at Convention

Antonio R. Bologna

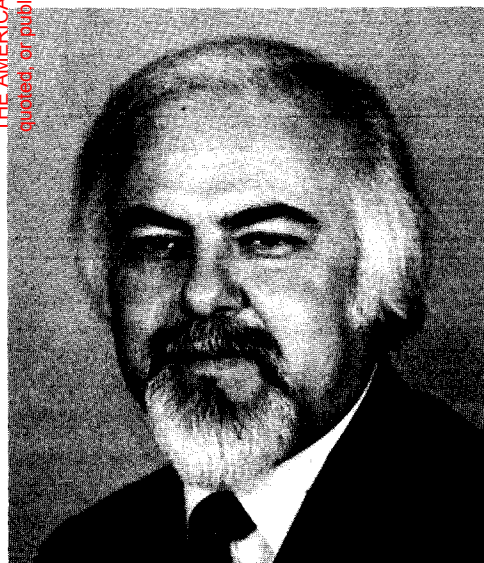

Antonio R. Bologna, FAIA, Memphis, serves on the AIA International Relations Committee and represents the Institute as a regional deputy council member of the Union Internationale des Architectes (UIA), as a member of the statutes and bylaws commission of the Federation of Pan American Architects (FPAA) and on the UIA working group for sports, leisure and tourism.

As a delegate, Bologna represented the Institute at the 1981 UIA congress and assembly in Warsaw and Katowice, Poland, and at the 1984 FPAA congress and assembly in Panama. He chaired the committee of organizers for the 1979 joint AIA/UIA/UNESCO international seminar on the "Comprehensive Community Center" at the AIA Building.

In 1976, Bologna chaired the AIA Committee on Architecture for Arts and Recreation and served on the Arts and Recreation Task Force.

A principal in the 17-year-old, 10-member firm Bologna & Associates Inc., he is active in numerous civic, professional, downtown revitalization and historic preservation efforts in Memphis. He earned his B. Arch. from Tulane University in 1964.

Statement of Philosophy: As architects, we should strive to act as catalysts in bringing together the private, governmental and professional sectors to work in partnerships to revitalize our cities. The Institute must be cognizant of new technology, techniques and innovative approaches in the practice of architecture and must keep the membership current and informed.

Philip W. Dinsmore

Philip W. Dinsmore, AIA, Tucson, is currently in his third year as national director from the Western Mountain Region and is vice chairman of the Membership Services Commission and a member of the Information Resources Management Advisory Committee.

His Board activities have included service on the Architects' Economics and Compensation Task Force, Governance Task Force, Member/Component Affairs Committee, Media Advisory Committee, Associates Task Force and Direction '80s Task Force. He has also been liaison to the Affirmative Action Committee and the Architects in Education Committee.

In addition, Dinsmore has served as president of the Arizona Society/AIA and the Southern Arizona Chapter, co-chairman of the 1982 Western Mountain Region conference and member of the Urban Planning and Design Committee.

Dinsmore, former chairman of the Tucson Architectural Approval Board, is a founding partner and principal in charge of marketing and design for Architecture One Ltd., with offices in Tucson and Phoenix. A 1965 B. Arch. graduate of the University of Arizona, he has more than 19 years of professional experience in Arizona and California.

Statement of Philosophy: The office of secretary is vitally important as it relates to every level of the Institute—from the individual member to the Executive Committees of the AIA, the AIA Service Corporation and the AIA Foundation. It is essential that the secretary understand and participate actively in the AIA to effectively represent the needs and concerns of all members.

Bernard L. Frishman

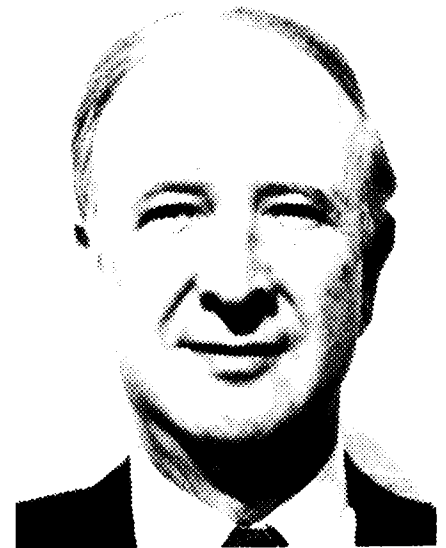

Bernard Lyon Frishman, AIA, Washington, D.C., is vice chairman of the Middle Atlantic Region/AIA and past president of the Potomac Valley Chapter.

A member of the Institute for more than 30 years, Frishman chaired the Construction Industries Committee and the Producers Council Cooperating Committee from 1955 to 1957, and he served on the Practice Management Committee and Metric Conversion Dimensional Task Force from 1977 to 1980.

In 1983, Frishman served as Middle Atlantic regional treasurer. He has been vice president of the Maryland Society of Architects since 1981. At the local level, he has been active with both the Potomac Valley and Washington Metropolitan Chapters.

The candidate is principal in the Silver Spring (Md.) firm Bernard Lyon Frishman Associates and is active in civic affairs. He received his B. Arch. from Catholic University.

Statement of Philosophy: Priorities for continued emphasis on public awareness, membership, services and programs at the national level should complement local chapter efforts for design excellence and public appreciation of architecture. The AIA Bylaws and Board activities should seek to improve the profession.
