

To my dear friends, clients and business associates,

It is with great excitement and anticipation that after almost 40 years of practicing architecture within the collaborative partnerships of Axis Architecture and Designs and formerly Neeley/Lofrano Architects of San Francisco, I announce the establishment of a new endeavor, LOFRANO Architecture, Sculpture and Design.

In this venture I will be evolving my career and design ideas in a more personally inspired studio practice. My goal is to concentrate more fully on ways to express and reveal my personal aspirations and design intuition in the exploration of projects in architecture, sculpture and design.

It is with thanks and appreciation to all my former collaborators for sharing their careers as I step into the next era of my professional evolution. I leave AXIS with fond memories of our shared intentions and with best wishes for the growth and professional satisfaction that I know the future holds. Collaboration remains an option as the opportunities present themselves.

I wish to express my deepest gratitude for the continued support and trust bestowed upon me by my clients while we shared our architectural journey. Without their projects, the opportunity for me to share my creative thoughts and the realization of them would not have otherwise been possible. I look forward to the challenges yet to come.

My activities will be conducted from my studios in San Rafael, California. All correspondence should be directed to terry@LOFRANO-ASD.com . I will be sharing a formal website with you in the near future.

Please accept my best wishes for a joyful holiday season and a bright and successful 2011.
