

THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS

Volume XIV

MARCH, 1926

Number 3

CONTENTS

RYE, SUSSEX, ENGLAND: A STREET	Photograph by F. R. Yerbury	Cover Illustration
WHITBY	Sepia Drawing by Randolph Schwabe	Frontispiece
THE RELATION OF CONSTRUCTION TO DESIGN		Harlan Thomas 91
MARGINALIA ARCHITECTURA		Christoforo Campanile 94
THIS CINEMATERIAL AGE—I		Leonard Cox 96
RYE, SUSSEX, ENGLAND	Photographs by F. R. Yerbury	99
TWO ETCHINGS		Randolph Schwabe 104
THE BRIDGE	Photographs by Richard Southall Grant	106
FROM FOREIGN SHORES		Irving K. Pond 108
PARIS LETTER		G. F. Sebille 112
"LO!" THE POOR ONE-FAMILY HOUSE		Henry Wright 116
PREPARING THE PUBLIC BUILDING SOIL		Charles Harris Whitaker 123
PLAYED ON A PENNY WHISTLE		Orpheus 122
INSPIRATION AND ASPIRATION		Architectolith 122
FROM OUR BOOK SHELF		125
INSTITUTE BUSINESS		126
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR		128
OBITUARY		129
INSTITUTE BUSINESS		129
STRUCTURAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT		143

Published Monthly by

THE PRESS OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS, INC.

LANSING C. HOLDEN, New York City, President; MILTON B. MEDARY, JR., Philadelphia, Pa., Vice-President; FREDERICK L. ACKERMAN, New York City, Secretary; WILLIAM P. BANNISTER, New York City, Treasurer; FRANK C. BALDWIN, Fredricksburg, Va.; J. MONROE HEWLETT, New York City; HENRY K. HOLSMAN, Chicago, Ill.; WILLIAM B. ITTNER, St. Louis Mo.; EGERTON SWARTWOUT, New York City, Directors.

CHARLES HARRIS WHITAKER, Editor

Publication Office, 305 Washington Street, Brooklyn, New York

Editorial Office, Fisk Building, 250 West 57th Street, New York, N. Y.

SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS THE COPY. $5 PER YEAR. (Foreign $6)

Checks or P. O. orders should be made payable to The Press of The American Institute of Architects, Inc., and all communications should be sent to the Editorial Office.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press of The American Institute of Architects, Inc. Entered as second-class matter at the Post Office at Brooklyn, N. Y., under Act of Congress of 24 August, 1912. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, Act of 3 October, 1917, authorized by the Third Assistant Postmaster General.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Architect. I shall continue to do so this year with another list. This may help the situation some. At least, I intend to do what I can to educate the people.

"It is very difficult to understand how the Institute can sell a paper on the advantages of architectural service and at the same time sell plans to eliminate this service. It is very evident that those who run the Institute do not make their living building small houses."

These sentiments express the views of about two hundred of our members, most of whom are striving to obtain a good practice and we think their views are worthy of consideration.

HUGH ROBERTS, Secretary.

The Next Convention—What Will It Do?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL:

Several matters may engage the attention of the next Convention, in Washington in May. One of these may be the relation to the Architects' Small House Service Bureau. The columns of the JOURNAL have been open to discussion and there are indications, as by the letter signed by Thomas Edward White on page 44 of the January issue, that the question has become obscured. Can it be made plainer?

To the editor of the JOURNAL, in suggesting the discussion, the question seemed to be: "Should the Institute endorsement and control of the Bureau be continued or withdrawn?"

Would the question be clearer if there were substituted the question that perhaps underlies the whole? Suppose the Convention were to discuss this: "Should the name of the Institute be lent to groups of architects who may wish to experiment with an idea?" If the Convention said no, that would be that. If it said yes, then would arise the question as to how. By what action? By Convention action? By a majority vote? Should a hundred men be trusted in such a matter or is the field too open for the effect of oratory? Would a two-thirds vote be safer? Or three-fourths? Or to be safer still, would two Conventions be required to affirm?

Or should the name of the Institute be lent in the way by which the United States Constitution is amended? Convention action first, and then ratification by the Chapters? By how many Chapters then? A majority? Two-thirds? Three-fourths?

Or should the name of the Institute only be lent after a letter ballot by the members? What would then be required? A majority vote? Two-thirds? Three-fourths? Should the proportion relate to the whole number of members or to those voting? Should it be, say, two-thirds, but not less than a majority of the whole number of members? Do all these questions seem absurd? If so they are asked because it seems vitally important to establish the size of the majority that shall have the power to lend the name of the Institute for cooperative group effort or extraneous private ventures. (We are not here dealing with internal rules and regulations.) If no principle is established, other groups may wish to borrow this name and, at present, would have ground to feel justified in asking for the loan of it.

Certainly there are dangers ahead in lending it, for the name of the Institute to be of any value to anybody, must be above suspicion, must it not?

Therefore, is not the name of the Institute the vital factor? Is not the lending of it something that should, in some manner, be made the vital concern of every member? Is it not time to deal with the principle now, rather than to become fogged in the merits or demerits of any idea which any group of architects may ask the Institute to endorse?

HARRY T. STEPHENS.

Chapter Publications

TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL:

The publication in the February JOURNAL of The General Conditions, the official publication of the WASHINGTON, D.C. CHAPTER, creates a precedent which I should gladly see followed by all Chapters whose activities justify a monthly publication, and what Chapter's activities should not?

In such an organization as the Institute the natural and proper sources of ideas and activities are the Chapters, not the central governing body and not the Conventions. The more closely the membership of the Institute can be kept in touch with the activities of the various Chapters the more homogeneous and helpful the Institute will become.

But each Chapter should stand as the embodiment of the Institute in the minds of the community in which it is located. This is a serious responsibility in any case, but in the case of the WASHINGTON, D. C. CHAPTER this responsibility gains weight from the fact that that Chapter represents us all at the seat of our Nation's government, at one point of contact with all other governments.

Therefore I have been somewhat hurt by the wholly flippant reference to the grade of fellow and I am moved to express the hope that in spite of any sins of omission or commission on the part of the Institute that may require discussion or correction, the WASHINGTON, D. C. CHAPTER in its public utterances may be inclined to give more serious thought to its special function of guardianship of the dignity of our historic professional institution.

J. MONROE HEWLETT.

Obituary

Burt L. Fenner

Elected to Membership in 1908

To Fellowship in 1913

Secretary of the Institute 1915-1916

Died at New York City, 25 January, 1926

In the death of Burt L. Fenner the country has lost one of the most outstanding figures in the architectural profession. Architecture is a difficult and many-sided profession today, and Fenner contributed the valuable service of a trained architect, of an admirable executive officer and of a sound business man; he also gave an abundant common sense to every phase of professional work which he undertook. Many men have contributed to the success and the growing usefulness of the American Institute of Architects, but none did more essential work for the Institute than he. No one could work with Fenner without being impressed by the sound value of his judgment on any matter coming up for consideration, and his experience was so wide, and so perfectly coordinated in his mind, as to make his statements overwhelmingly convincing.

He had long served the Institute before he was called on to take the position of Secretary at a critical point in the history of the Institute. It was going through a period of reorganization, it was ceasing to be an unimportant and loosely managed body of men, who, in some ways, were almost amateurs in architecture, and was becoming an influential professional body of the highest standing, destined to have considerable power. It was his work, as Secretary, which largely contributed to the standing which the American Institute of Architects has today. This work he did with no apparent effort, a side issue of public service in a busy life, for in 1915 he had been a partner in McKim Mead & White for ten years, and after the deaths of Stanford White and McKim, he was the chief executive in the most important firm in the country. Under such conditions it was no small task which he performed for the Institute in the years of 1915-1916.

THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS

No less notable was his work for the Government during the war. Housing was a very important factor in our contribution to the war, and Fenner was largely instrumental in the establishment of the United States Housing Corporation, with Mr. Eidlitz as its head. As at first organized there were three departments, architecture, engineering, and landscape architecture, which were intended to cooperate and work together under the leadership of Mr. Eidlitz. Mr. Fenner was the head of the architectural division. It became very quickly apparent that it required more force than the chief possessed to reconcile the rival claims of architect, engineer, and landscape architect in the control and direction of each undertaking. It speaks volumes for the regard in which Mr. Fenner was held, that when another man was put at the head of the architectural division and Mr. Fenner made General Manager, with full control over all three, it was accepted at once. From that time on every project was handled with dispatch and without the slightest sign of friction or conflict of authority.

In outlining thus briefly the outstanding instances of public service, one has not touched at all on the regular work of his professional life. The important works by the firm during the last twenty years are in themselves the best testimony to what he did there: the Municipal building, the Pennsylvania station, the Post Office, the Pennsylvania Hotel, the Morgan Library, the Metropolitan Museum, all executed in New York during this time. Again this makes no mention of the charming personality which endeared him to all who knew him. No one in the profession was more widely known, none so generally respected, and none had such a host of friends and yet was so wholly lacking in enemies. He has laid down his life at his prime. Born in 1869, he was in his 57th year. After a year of practise in Rochester, his home town, he studied at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1890-91, and then in 1891 entered McKim's office, and was taken into partnership fifteen years later, in 1906. Thirty-five years in the office, twenty years as partner!

Such is his record. His death leaves a gap which will be hard to fill, and the personal loss will be felt by the host of young architects who have come out of McKim's office, and who have known and valued Fenner's influence, and also by that greater host of men who knew and loved him.

R. C. S.

Thomas Nash

Elected to the Institute in 1915
Died at New York City, 7 January, 1926

Sylvain Schnaittacher

Elected to the Institute in 1905
Elected to the Board of Directors in 1924
Died at San Francisco, California, 10 February, 1926

Louis Chapell Newhall

Elected to the Institute in 1907
Elected to Fellowship in 1914
Died at Boston, Massachusetts, 26 December, 1925

Institute Business

Meetings of the Board of Directors held on December 11, 12, 13, 14, 1925¹

MEMBERS PRESENT. The meeting was called to order by President D. Everett Waide at 11:15 A. M. on December 11, 1925, at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, California. Present: First Vice-President Garfield; and Directors Fisher, Zantzinger, Sayward, Schnaittacher, Goldsmith, Hewlett and Jackson; also the Editor of the JOURNAL, Mr. Whitaker; and the Executive Secretary, Mr. Kemper.

The President reported good news from Secretary Edwin H. Brown who, in September, was obliged to give up the duties of his office and take a complete rest; also he reported with regret the absence, and the resignation, of the Acting Secretary, William L. Steele, who must now relinquish most of his Institute duties on account of the demands of business affairs; and the absence of the Treasurer, Wm. B. Ittner, who was prevented from attending by unexpected business.

Other Directors absent on account of business were C. Herrick Hammond and Nat G. Walker.

ACTING SECRETARY ELECTED. The resignation of Vice-President Steele was accepted with regret, and with appreciation of his services as Acting Secretary. Director C. C. Zantzinger was elected Acting Secretary, to serve until the 59th Convention or until the return of the Secretary.

Later in the meeting Director Wm. E. Fisher was elected to serve on the Executive Committee to succeed Wm. L. Steele, resigned.

MINUTES CORRECTED AND APPROVED. The Minutes

¹ There have been deleted from these minutes various items of a privileged nature.

THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS

Volume XIV

JUNE, 1926

Number 6

CONTENTS

A WOODCUT	Gabriel Charlopeau	Cover Illustration
THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL, WASHINGTON, D. C.	Richard Southall Grant	Frontispiece
THE FIFTY-NINTH ANNUAL CONVENTION	Louis La Beaume	241
ART AND THE PLEASANT LIFE	G. H. Edgell	244
TUDOR HOMES AND OURS	Sydney E. Castle	245
IN THE FRENCH PROVINCES	Sketches by W. Marbury Somervell	251
EARLY SCULPTURE:
A NEW GREEK ARCHAIC STATUE	Stanley Casson	255
TWO ANGELS AND A LEKYTHOS	W. M. M.	255
AUGUSTUS ST. GAUDENS	J. E. Fraser	260
THE HERMES OF HOGAI	Francis P. Sullivan	261
LONDON LETTER	"X."	264
SOME RECOLLECTIONS	R. Clipston Sturgis	266
PLAYED ON A PENNY WHISTLE	Orpheus	268
FROM OUR BOOK SHELF		269
THE CONVENTION		273
MINUTES—MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE 5, 6 March, 1926		283
OBITUARY		286
STRUCTURAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT		287

Published Monthly by

THE PRESS OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS, INC.

LANSING C. HOLDEN, New York City, President; MILTON B. MEDARY, JR., Philadelphia, Pa., Vice-President; FREDERICK L. ACKERMAN, New York City, Secretary; WILLIAM P. BANNISTER, New York City, Treasurer; FRANK C. BALDWIN, Fredricksburg, Va.; EDWIN BERGSTROM, Los Angeles, Calif.; J. MONROE HEWLETT, New York City; HENRY K. HOLSMAN, Chicago, Ill.; EGERTON SWARTWOUT, New York City, Directors.

CHARLES HARRIS WHITAKER, Editor

Publication Office, 305 Washington Street, Brooklyn, New York

Editorial Office, Fisk Building, 250 West 57th Street, New York, N. Y.

SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS THE COPY. $5 PER YEAR. (Foreign $6)

Checks or P. O. orders should be made payable to The Press of The American Institute of Architects, Inc., and all communications should be sent to the Editorial Office.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press of The American Institute of Architects, Inc. Entered as second-class matter at the Post Office at Brooklyn, N. Y., under Act of Congress of 24 August, 1912. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, Act of 3 October, 1917, authorized by the Third Assistant Postmaster General.

THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS

Resolved, that the dues of those delinquents who were to be dropped on March 1, who have saved their membership by making payments on account, or sending notes, be rated at $20 per year for the year 1926.

RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION. During their stay in Chicago the members of the Executive Committee were made at home at the Architects' Club. Here they were entertained at luncheon by Mr. Gerhardt F. Meyne, Vice-President of the Club, and met many members of the building fraternity in Chicago.

On Friday evening the members of the Executive Committee were entertained at dinner, at the University Club, by members of the CHICAGO CHAPTER.

By resolution the Secretary was requested to convey to the CHICAGO CHAPTER, and to the Architects' Club, appreciation of the hospitality enjoyed during the visit to Chicago.

Errata

In the May issue of the JOURNAL appeared five architectural paintings by Mr. Charles Cundall. We were enabled to publish them through the courtesy of P. & D. Colnaghi, London, whose name was inadvertently omitted in the announcement.

In the last issue mention was made of a portrait of Mr. Latrobe presented to the Institute by Mr. Gamble Latrobe, Jr. A photograph only was presented.

Obituary

Sylvain Schnaittacher

Elected to the Institute in 1905

Elected to the Board of Directors in 1924

Died at San Francisco, Calif., 10 February, 1926

Always ready to give generously of his time, to listen patiently to the details of those ever developing and ever recurring problems that come to the most careful of practitioners and beset the relationships that grow out of the eager striving of many men, Sylvain Schnaittacher found his associates in San Francisco ever ready to accept of his bounty and to lean with confidence and trust on the rare qualities that made him so dear. They were rare qualities, indeed, and there were times of stress when he stood steadfast as a tower, never losing his patience, never letting his zeal falter, and ever giving and giving of the time that took such a heavy toll. He was the Secretary of our Chapter for ten years and during that time its affairs were administered with celerity, accuracy, and the same unflagging attention, even to the most petty and often annoying details, that characterized that side of his life which he gave to public and professional affairs. For sixteen years he was Secretary of the California State Board of Architecture. For many years he served on the Examining Committee of the State Civil Service Commission for the examination of architectural draughtsmen. Again he came to the service of the Chapter as its Vice-President and then as its President in 1916-1920.

At the time of his death he was serving on the Board of Directors of the Institute and we all felt very sure that his qualities would become so apparent that a further draft on his time and services, directly in Institute service, would be made at some not distant day. Men who give with interest are rare enough, but men who can bring wisdom, patience, tolerance, kindness, all to bear on their gifts of time and voluntary service are rare indeed, and we shall miss Sylvain Schnaittacher in all the things that remain to be done, in the trivialities of the daily round of our local affairs and even, we are sure, in the larger affairs of the Institute to which he had lately been called. Such is the memory by which we shall cherish his life.

He was born 30 November, 1874, in the city which he always loved so well. His first training was in the City Grammar and High School, and at the Mark Hopkins Institute of Art; then he entered the office of A. Page Brown, and before setting up in independent practice he spent a year in Europe in study.

Among the noteworthy buildings designed by him are those of the Paige Motor Car Company, Argonaut Club, Beresford Country Club, and in association with other architects he designed and erected the Temple Emanu-El, State Agricultural Building, and Mt. Zion Nurses' Home. He also designed many apartment houses.

To his practice as to his profession he brought admirable qualities. He has left us a very precious heritage.

W. B. F.
W. M.

Howard Van Doren Shaw

Elected to the Institute in 1906

To Fellowship in 1907

Gold Medallist, 1927

Died at Baltimore, Maryland, 6 May, 1926

Under the news of the Convention, elsewhere in this issue, there is recorded the sad death of Mr. Shaw within a few hours of the Institute's award to him of the Gold Medal, which, following the usual procedure, would have been presented to him at the Convention of 1927.

A further notice will appear in our next issue.

Walter M. Gieske

Elected to the Institute in 1920

Died at Baltimore, Maryland, 14 May, 1926

Mr. Gieske was born in Baltimore. After graduating from the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, he completed his education at Cornell, later entering the practice of architecture in his native city. He was the designer of a great many suburban homes. A few years ago he was selected architect for the Maryland State sanatorium buildings erected in Baltimore County. Among the other important works in which he had a hand in Baltimore County were Catonsville High School, the German Orphan Asylum, near Catonsville, and numerous business structures in Catonsville. He was a member of the BALTIMORE CHAPTER.

Mr. Gieske had been suffering from pneumonia. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara Ehlen Gieske, and two brothers.

Rudolph A. Herold

Elected to the Institute in 1916

Died at Sacramento, Calif., 14, April, 1926

(Further notice later.)