A member, by virtue of his membership in The Institute, becomes a member of the chapter of The Institute within the territory of which he resides or has his place of business, as he elects, but he pays an admission fee to The Institute only. The admission fee to membership in The Institute normally is twenty-five dollars. (For 1936 this fee was reduced to five dollars.)

A member pays annual dues both to The Institute and to the chapter. The annual dues to The Institute normally are twenty-five dollars (for 1936 Institute dues were reduced to twenty dollars) and those to the chapter are fixed in its by-laws.

Normally the period between the time of filing an application and the time it is acted on by The Board of The Institute is four months. The period will be longer if the application must be returned to the applicant for corrections or if additional exhibits of the applicant's work are required by The Board of Examiners.

If an application is denied, the amount prepaid by the applicant for annual dues and for admission fee, less five dollars for examination fee, will be returned to him.

An applicant whose application has been denied without prejudice may reapply for admission to membership a year or more after the date of The Secretary's notice to him of his non-admission.

Dear Sir:

I have very suddenly been asked to go to Washington and prepare to leave for England in a few weeks on a special mission which will probably keep me out of the country for more than a year.

I wonder if there is any reduction in dues which I can ask for since I am leaving on Government orders for an unspecified length of time. I hope to be a member of the Institute as long as I am in practice.

Very truly yours,

Do you have any statement concerning Mr. Lamb's work with O.C.D. and the details of this matter, which we might have for the historical file of The Institute?

If so, we should indeed appreciate a copy.

Dear Mr. Kemper:

In reply to your letter of March 5, 1943, concerning Mr. Theodore W. Lamb and his work with OCD, I wish to advise that Mr. Lamb was on a very important mission for this agency at the time of his death in the plane crash in Lisbon.

He was to have been an attache at the American Embassy in London and was to have served as a special observer for the Office of Civilian Defense in London. As he had not been associated with this office previously I can add only that we regarded him as highly qualified to undertake this mission because of his work as an architect in this country and the special studies he had made in European countries.

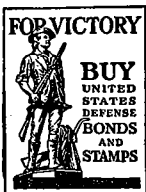

As you doubtless know, he had long been interested in aviation and airport design, a study begun in preparing his graduation thesis at Yale and carried out subsequently under the Matcham Fellowship with a study of airports and conferences with architects in Germany, Austria, Sweden and Holland.

He had spent parts of eight separate years in specialized training in England and French universities and in extensive travel in Austria, Germany and Italy. You probably have a record of his work as an architect and an engineer in this country, largely in association with Winston Elting, Paul Schweikher and George Fred Keck.
