Gentlemen:

On February, 1929, Mr. David D. Weitz and myself wrote a letter informing you of our resignation from the American Institute.

We also explained the fact that up to the time we resigned, our dues were paid in full for the year of 1929. This morning we received another notice from the Institute for dues for 1930-31. We cannot understand this as we have not been members of the Institute for the past year.

Will you please see that this matter is corrected on your books?

Very truly yours,
